

MPhil Economics Dissertations 2020-2021

Title	Classmark
How do terrorist attacks impact female labour force participation?	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:1
Housing and the global financial cycle: Transmission of US monetary policy shocks to European housing markets	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:2
Speeding up the process: Should regulators impose the adoption of shared-appreciation mortgages?	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:3
How does carbon neutrality affect economic growth? Evidence from China	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:4
Quantitative view on high-yield bonds fundamentals and monetary policy	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:5
The game of thorns: Empirically analysing the impact of opium cultivation on terrorism within Afghanistan between 1994 and 2017	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:6
UK soft drinks industry levy: An analysis	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:7
Policy targeting in the case of youth unemployment in the UK	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:8

An empirical analysis of adolescents' academic performance and decisions in China	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:9
Heterogenous wealth returns and income mobility	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:10
COVID-19 and financial market performance: an empirical investigation of the UK stock market	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:11
Is active management dead? To what extent do constraints bind the potential of machine learning?	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:12
An econometric analysis of dispatchable technologies' role in balancing the GB electricity grid in response to variations in demand and intermittent solar and wind power generation	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:13
The impact of internet user prevalence on suicide rates: a country-level analysis of panel data	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:14
Can sustainable assets be used to hedge against market risk?	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:15
Competitive analysis of futures market: Bitcoin, gold and currency	ECO MPHIL DISS 2020/2021:16