Summary

From the note found with the published obituary in this collection, it would appear that the Marshall Library acquired the collection by the gift of Miss Marie Byse in April 1941. Miss Byse was from Lausanne, Switzerland and the five Seneuil letters were written to her mother.

Summary

Mr and Mrs Byse were said to have visited the summer villa of Seneuil and Mme de Huici above Bex, Switzerland regularly.

BIOGRAPHY Jean-Gustave Courcelle Seneuil was born 22 December 1813 in Seneuil, in the Dordogne region of France. He studied at schools in Perigueux and Poitiers before going to Paris to study law. In 1835 he was called to the bar, but had already turned to writing. He became an active contributor to republican newspapers and during the second republic was sent to England on an economic mission, before becoming director of the public domains. After Prince Napoleon's coup d'etat Seneuil devoted himself to economic studies, becoming a writer for the Journal des Economistes and publishing books on banking and industry. He was also joint translator of Mill's "Principles of Political Economy". In 1855 he became Professor of Political Economy at the University of Chile. He had a major influence in that country and was sent to Europe in 1858-9 as adviser to the Government, who were trying to secure loans to build a railway network. In 1863 Seneuil returned to France, where he continued to publish his numerous works on economics and social science and also to translate works from English. In 1879 he was made a councillor of state and in 1882 was elected a member of l'Academie des sciences morales et politiques de l'Institut de France. He continued writing until his death, the last published volume being "la Societe moderne". He regarded Chile as his second homeland and frequently spoke in its defence.
